May Spotlight:

Parent Resources

At UCanGo2, we're all about college access; we do our best to spread the word about the benefits of higher education — whether it be at a college, university, career technology center or trade school. We'd like to show you some of the resources parents can use to encourage their children to pursue education and training after high school.

Publication Feature

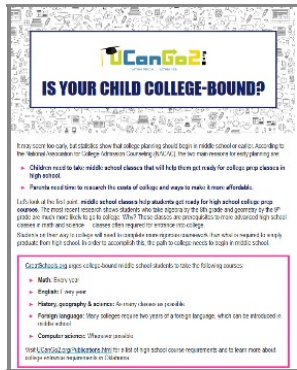

From Cradle to College

Written for parents of very young children, From Cradle to College provides information to help parents make college a reality for their kids. It includes information about childhood development, learning, goal-setting and ways to pay for college.

Elementary Resources

UCanGo2 also provides activities for children in grades K-5 that will introduce them to the idea of college and all that comes with it. Parents can find these instructional materials at UCanGo2.org/Publications.

Middle School Resources

College planning in middle school ensures students take classes that help them prepare for college prep courses in high school. It also gives parents the time to research college costs and ways to make it more affordable. Is Your Child College-Bound? provides helpful college planning information and resources to get parents and students off on the right foot.

Resources

Paying for College

Parents and other family members and friends should consider the Oklahoma 529 college savings plan to help families prepare for the cost of higher education.

Oklahoma's Promise offers qualified Oklahoma students an opportunity to earn a scholarship for tuition at public colleges and career technology centers. Students must enroll in eighth, ninth, tenth or 11th grades. Visit Oklahoma's Promise to learn about the eligibility requirements and how to apply for this scholarship.
